Rachel Kronowitz is a Woman Who Means Business

Gilbert Randolph LLP Vice Chair Chosen for Washington Business Journal's
"Women Who Mean Business" List

Washington, DC—Rachel S. Kronowitz, vice-chair of Washington, DC law firm of Gilbert Randolph LLP, has been named to the Washington Business Journal's 2007 "Women Who Mean Business" list. Kronowitz is one of 25 women selected from hundreds of qualified applicants.

"These honorees represent women from every industry and profession, women who've made a difference in their communities, blazed a trail for the rest of us and are leaving a mark on Washington business," commented Alex Orfinger, publisher of the WBJ. The 25 women selected for this year's list will be honored at a reception and dinner on November 29, 2007.

Kronowitz was honored both for her work as a lawyer and for her many contributions to the Washington community. In addition to being a partner at Gilbert Randolph where she serves as vice chair of the Firm, Rachel also is vice chair of the Board of Directors of the Washington Area Women's Foundation, a non-profit organization dedicated to improving the lives of women and girls in the Washington, DC area. Earlier this year, Rachel was honored by Business Insurance magazine as one of BI's "2007 Women to Watch."

Other 2007 WBJ honorees include Kathleen Matthews of Marriott International, Debra Lee of BET Holdings and Linda Zechner of Microsoft Corporation.

Gilbert Randolph LLP is a Washington, DC-based law firm that focuses its practice on policyholder insurance recovery work. The firm's clients include Fortune 500 corporations, smaller companies, creditor committees, trusts, non-profit organizations and individuals.
